Knapp's Covered Bridge

The Knapp's Covered Bridge in Bradford County near Towanda, PA is stunning. Said to be the tallest covered bridge in the state, it dates back to 1860. This is a pretty remarkable bridge, and the only covered bridge left in Bradford County. This bridge is in a tranquil setting, not even near any paved roads. This covered bridge is unlike any other that I have seen in the state, and they have gone to great pains to keep this bridge in top shape. Definitely check this out if you are in the area. This Burr Truss bridge is also known as Luther's Mills Bridge and Brown's Creek Covered Bridge. It measures in at 95 feet long and is on the National Register of Historic Places.
